

Flirt Pole Training

The flirtpole is great for dogs who like to chase and good for teaching impulse control.

With a toy at the end, tease the dog with flicks.
As he gets close flick it a little further
Let him get it.

Have a game.
When his grip is lessening lift the toy by the line, up out of his reach and ask for a sit position.

As soon as he sits, reward with another game.
Cast the line further away this time.
Make it challenging with twists & turns as he gets better.

Important!

Make sure your dog is already warmed up as you are going to encourage rapid movement from a static .

Be careful not to raise the line too high when the dog is running to avoid twists and turns in the air.
